Parkland, taxes, concern ratepayer

Ratepayers appear to be taking an increasing interest in the activities of the Anson, Hindon and Minden administration. At the latest meeting, held September 24, eight local residents were on hand to either observe the proceedings or to petition the councillors on some point of concern. The gallery at the council chambers is usually left to the two representatives of the press who regularly cover the council's business.

One of those attending the Thursday night meeting was Bernie Davis. Mrs. Davis brought a number of concern to present to the council. Among them was the sale of the township owned property, especially that which is located on lakes.

Davis said the council has a responsibility to ensure that future generations of the township will have access to lakes in the area. She cited the recent protest of Minden Lake property owners to the establishment of a public park in a subdivision which has been approved for the south shore of the lake.

"I am concerned that too much parkland is being sold in the townships," she stated. "I think a watch-dog system is needed to ensure that land sales being carried out today won't be regretted fifty years from now."

Deputy Reeve Doug Pritchard noted that the money raised through the sale of municipally owned land in one area is used to help pay for the development costs in another. He said the objections are raised by cottagers because they don't like the idea of having a public park next to their property.

Councillor Lyle McKnight

said the township council has examined parcels of land which it sold last year prior to offering them on the market. "If we feel the land has park potential, we use it. If it is unsuitable for a park, we sell it and use the proceeds to develop other parks." By law, any money raised through the sale of land which has been designated for park purposes, must be used for park development.

McKnight said he felt if the council ensured there was at least one piece of municipally owned land on each lake, that would guarantee the public access.

Councillor Larry Cummins disagreed with that stand, commenting that the municipality needed more lots on area lakes.

Davis suggested that a committee oversee the proposed sale of all municipally owned land. "If a disagreement existed over whether the land is to be sold, it should be retained," she told the council. "Once it is sold, it is gone forever. It's a one-way street."

Davis also suggested that when municipal land is being offered for sale through tender, that a description of the location of the property be given in layman's terms. She said the legal terms used in the tender advertisements is often confusing to the citizens of the community who, while they might not be interested in purchasing the property, may want to know where the land is which the municipality is selling.

Reeve Lloyd Walker said both points would be taken under advisement by the council and discussed at a Council questioned on approval for subdivision

Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council has been accused of acting in a manner which lacked consistency and was not good planning.

The charges were levelled September 24 when Gerry Heywood appeared before the councillors to voice his concern over the approval granted for a subdivision on the Scotch Line Road and Highway 35.

He questioned why the council had, at its last meeting, lifted a building permit ban on the Scotch Line property, while at the same meeting, insisted that a developer on Bobcaygeon Road North, meet all the terms of his subdivision agreement.

The development on the Scotch Line Road will allow a series of lots which front on Highway 35 to be built on even though they will be serviced by a privately maintained road at the rear. The property owners will not have access to the highway directly and all deeds on the lots concerned will include the stipulation that a private road, owned by all property owners will be the only means of access. The township has indicated that once the road is brought up to municipal standards as set by the MTC, the municipality will accept the road into its system.

By comparison, the subdivision on Bobcaygeon Road North, has signed an agreement to supply a paved road and street lighting to the development before council will allow it to proceed beyond a certain point. At the September 9 meeting of the council, it was learned that all the terms were not being met and the developer was asked to meet them or cease selling the lots. The developer, John Burns, has indicated that the terms of the agreement will be met shortly.

Heywood, a local real estate salesman, emphasised that he has no interest in either development. However he pointed out that by allowing the Scotch Line Road lots on the market without the usual subdivision improvements, the owners can sell the lots at a much lower price than the other developers. "You have to be consistent," Heywood said. "How can these other developers compete when the services are not required for this subdivision?" Heywood said the lots in the Scotch Line development were being sold at $3500.00.

Deputy Reeve Doug Pritchard said that when the development of the Scotch Line site was first proposed, the developer, associated with Cooper and Pitts Real Estate, refused the council's request to install a proper road. "We said 'no' at that time," Pritchard emphasised.

Heywood questioned whether the fact the property had recently changed hands was any reason for the council to allow the development to proceed.

Councillor Lyle McKnight noted that the lots on which the municipality is allowing construction do have frontage on a publicly maintained road (Highway 35) even though they may not have access to it directly. He said the use of private roads is allowed in a situation where property fronts on a lake as well. McKnight noted that only one or two of the lots in the Burns' subdivision fronted on a public road, necessitating

Government grants withdrawn - HCSA forced to institute user fees for snowmobile trails

The Haliburton County Snowmobile Association has been forced to institute a user-pay policy for the trails it maintains. The change in policy was announced this week by HCSA president Tom Prentice following the withdrawal of Ministry of Natural Resources financial support.

The MNR withdrew the support last week. Clubs across the province were notified by letter of the ministry's decision. "It didn't come as that much of a surprise," Prentice commented in an interview. "Rumours had been circulating for quite some time that the funding was going to be cut. We were expecting it."

The ministry letter signed by Lloyd Eckel, the executive director of outdoor recreation for MNR stated that the trail development program which had been initiated in 1974 had been "seed money to help clubs get established and develop trails. I believe we have now attained that goal." The letter pointed out that a number of clubs were operating on a self-sustaining basis and so the program was being discontinued.

Funding for trails maintained by the MNR (in this area that includes the Five Points Trail System) will continue, but perhaps at a lower rate. The ministry will continue to provide technical assistance to the associations and help with brochures, maps and other items.

According to the ministry letter, the program has distributed $2,850,000 in grants to 1300 trail clubs during the program's eight years.

The ministry provided the local club with $12,000 last year. The HCSA's total budget in the 1980-81 season was $40,000.

According to Prentice, the executive has agreed that trail users will either have to be members of the club or pay a user's fee. The basic club membership is $25. "We haven't worked out the mechanics of the non-member user's fee," Prentice said. "It could be a weekly or daily rate, we're not sure at this time." The executive hopes to have the rates set by the time the season opens.

The president emphasized that this change in policy will not mean that landowners who have agreed to allow the club to have trails across the property will have to purchase a membership. "We are grateful for their permission to use the land," Prentice stated, "they will be sent complimentary memberships if they request them." He also noted that trappers, government personnel and cross country skiers will have free access to the association's trail network.

Trails become private

The action of the association in effect turns what were once public trails in the Haliburton County system into private trails. Prentice said that groomer operators will police the system during the week to ensure that the users are members of the association or have paid the user fee. "We are hoping the lodges will co-operate in this regard," Prentice said. "At least one lodge has already built a user's fee into the rates being charged for weekly packages at the resort. The resorts in the county benefit by the association's grooming and trail network, we think it is only right that they make an effort to ensure we can continue to operate," the president said.

Prentice said he was uncertain as to the status of the trails which the association has built and maintained over Crown land. One of the reasons the local group has resisted the movement to institute users' fees is because so many of the trails currently

U.S. legislators offer little hope for acid rain abatement in near future

Municipal politicians and concerned environmentalists from Haliburton County returned home Wednesday evening with a less than optimistic outlook for the reduction of acid rain emission from the United States.

The local representatives were attending an evening meeting with U.S. politicians to discuss the concerns over the trans-boundary problem. While most of the visitors from south of the border offered a sympathetic ear to the concerns of the local representatives, the majority of the state representatives and senators appeared unconvinced that the problem was as serious as the Ontario authorities had suggested or that the U.S. industry and power plants were to blame for the problem.

It was clear from talking to some representatives that more than environmental interests were behind their stand. Senator William Ress, a recently elected Republican from Ohio, noted his state is one of the major suppliers of coal to U.S. industry. He readily admitted that the coal was high in sulphur content.

But, he also told the delegates that almost one third of the coal miners in his state were currently unemployed. "It is hard to ask for more reductions in coal use or environmental measures that may take years to put in place, when such a large number of my constituents were without work," Ress said.

This was the third in a series of meetings held in Muskoka to acquaint American legislators, their aides and the U.S. media with the concerns of Ontario residents regarding to acid rain. The visitors were taken on a flying tour of the province including a number of circuits around the super stack at Sudbury and a visit to the acid rain research laboratory at Dorset.

Ontario Environment Minister Keith Norton gave the keynote address Wednesday evening. He appealed to the United States officials to ensure the provisions of the memorandum of intent between the two countries regarding acid rain to be complied with. Norton commented, "I felt, as did many Ontario residents, that the memorandum represented a straight-forward and honest attempt by two countries who were trying to work out mutual problems together." He noted that since the Reagan administration had taken over in Washington, Ontario's concerns have been dismissed as unfounded, requests for action called extremist, that provisions of the Clean Air Act had been gutted and less stringent plans for air quality proposed.

"Ontario is totally committed to winning the fight against acid rain. Environmentally we must," Norton told the gathering. "...we will continue to take our case to the American public and, where necessary, to your courts and administrative tribunals".

Despite the pleadings, veiled threats and attempts to reason with the visitors, it appeared last week that little ground was gained.

One United States politician suggested that if the province was serious about curbing acid rain, it should make some of its excess electrical generating capacity available to the U.S. market at a low price to reduce the emissions from American generating plants. While that plan has been rejected initially, it may indicate there is a certain amount of room in the U.S. stand for compromise and exchange. However, for the moment, it appears there is little chance the amount of acid rain emanating from the American side of the border will be reduced in the near future.

Members of the Haliburton County delegation listen intently as Ohio Republican Senator William Ress explains his position on acid rain. The confrontation took place Wednesday evening in Bracebridge. Among those representing the county were, from the left, Sonya Holliday-Rhodes of the local anti-pollution committee, Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone Reeve Fred Baum and Monmouth Reeve Keith Tallman.

the construction of a standard road by the developer to meet the municipality's regulations

Heywood suggested that even though the council does not own the road and that the deeds for the property in the area state that access is by private road, the township could still be responsible if an accident should happen on the road. "I just don't think it is right," Heywood commented. "No one can be held accountable for that road."

I JUST WENT TO MASS AT A NEIGHBORING CHURCH. IT WAS QUITE AN IMPRESSIVE SERVICE.

ONE OF THE THINGS THEY USED WAS INCENSE. I TRIED INCENSE ONCE, BUT IT GOT TOO SMOKEY.

IN FACT, BY THE TIME THE SMOKE HAD CLEARED...

...SO HAD THE CHURCH.

Chairman of the Minden Horticultural Society, Amos Brubacher looks on as the Ontario president of horticultural societies plants one of two blue spruce trees outside Minden's new library-cultural centre. The ceremony was part of the official opening Saturday. Spectators take shelter under the eaves of the building to avoid the pelting rain which did not dampen the spirit of the day.

Johnson confirms resignation

One of the two members of the Haliburton County Board of Education representing Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships, Lloyd Johnson has announced his retirement in mid-term.

Mr. Johnson had indicated earlier this summer that he would be stepping down from the position, but was waiting for responsibilities on a negotiations committee to be completed before taking any action.

The trustee has stated that he has taken on increased responsibilities for the postal union of which he is a member. He said he was unable to find the time to devote to both interests and was forced to make a decision for one.

Johnson has been a trustee of the board for the past nine years and has served as chairman of the board twice.

The second representative from Anson, Hindon and Minden is Don Booth. Both were acclaimed to the posts during the last municipal election. The remaining members of the board are expected to fill the vacancy left by Johnson, and a second created by the resignation of West Guilford trustee Earl Cooper, at the next meeting of the board.

Grants withdrawn

are over the MNR controlled land. Prentice said the ministry has not expressed any policy on the matter either. "The association membership or user's fee is not being charged for the use of Crown land," Tom stated, "but is for the trail clearing and grooming which the association provides."

The president noted that other clubs in Ontario who have instituted a yearly or daily fee have experienced no difficulty in collecting it from users when they are stopped on the trail. "Most people, I think, appreciate the effort that goes into trail building and maintenance and are willing to contribute to the cause," Prentice said that the only lever the club has over those who have not paid is to threaten them with trespass when they are stopping on trails on private land.

The prevailing attitude among snowmobilers appear to be a co-operative one however. Prentice noted that clubs and association which allow members only on their trails have noted an increase in revenue from the memberships and user fees that far outstripped the loss of the government grant. MNR grants were made available to clubs which did not discriminate between members and non-members.

County grant

The president of the association said the group would now accept the $500 portion of the grant offered by the County of Haliburton for trail construction in the Tory Hill area although he pointed out that the money wouldn't "go very far." At the September meeting of the county council a letter from the association was read saying they would be unwilling to accept the $500 grant because they didn't feel a proper trail could be built for that amount of money.

"We will take the $500 this year and will spend it as far as it goes," Prentice commented. "It will likely be a very rough trail, but if additional grants are available from the county in coming years the trail could be improved to proper standards." He said a sign would likely be erected at the entrance to the trail indicating the resources which the association had to work with in establishing the trail. "It will probably be pretty rough for the first year or so," Tom suggested.

future meeting. Councillor Ed Pergolas was absent from the Thursday meeting.

Davis also addressed the council on the cashing of tax payment cheques. She suggested that the municipality adopt a policy of not cashing tax cheques until the first day of the following month or at least until after three p.m. on the last day of the month. Tax due dates are usually set on the last business day of a month.

She pointed out that taxpayers will lose the interest on the entire month's deposit if the cheque for the taxes is cashed by the township prior to the end of the month. "The only person to gain is the bank," Davis said.

The members of council agreed to discuss the question at a later meeting when Councillor Pergolas returned from holidays.

Teen dances proposed here

Linda Pentney believes there is a need for weekend activities for teens in Minden. She hopes, with the help of other interested adults, that an organization can be formed with teenagers to run weekly dances at the community centre.

"I think there is a need for such dances in Minden," Linda commented, "especially since any other dances suitable for teens are usually held at the high school in Haliburton."

She has suggested that a committee of teenagers be formed to organize the dances and that a number of adults lend their assistance and guidance to the project.

The purpose of the meeting planned for tomorrow evening, Thursday, October 1, will be to gauge the interest in the community to the idea. "I want to hear from adults as well as teenagers," Linda commented. "Both are vital to the success of the idea."

The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock at the Anglican Church parish hall. For more information on the meeting or to offer your suggestions, contact Linda Pentney at 286-1351 or 286-2261.

Open the doors

Minden Township Council chose an inopportune time for an in camera meeting Thursday evening. While the council met with Don Glashan of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications behind closed doors, ten members of the public were left to cool their heels in the anteroom.

The public meeting had been called for 7:30 p.m. The public were allowed in at 8:15 p.m.

Most of those who were forced to wait outside the closed entrance were there to address council on various matters. One was told her submission would be heard at 7:30 p.m., while another was scheduled for 8 o'clock. Ironically, one of those in attendance was a citizen of the municipality who had come simply to observe his elected officials carry out their duties. How often have we heard the municipal politicians plead for greater public interest in their activities? With a reception such as they received Thursday evening, isn't it any wonder the gallery is virtually empty when the council meets?

We have criticized the council in the past on this point and will continue to do so in the future if they persist in this course of action. They are public officials, elected by the citizens of this municipality. They are not a private board of directors, rather, they head a public institution in which all of the ratepayers have a share and interest in what is taking place. The money they spend is not theirs, but belongs to everyone who pays taxes in these townships. The taxpayers have a right to know, not only how that money is being spent, but the reasons for making an expenditure and the discussion, pro and con, which led up to that decision.

The council has once again shown its disdain for the public's right to know what is taking place in its name. The matter was further compounded by the fact there were more than the two members of the press left waiting outside the door. The council's actions were rude, inconsiderate and fly in the face of the democratic traditions of this country.

A new addition

Everybody was beaming with pride Saturday as the ribbon was snipped to officially open Minden's new library and cultural centre. They had a right to be proud for the building which was so long in coming, was finally a reality.

It has been a rough road from the first suggestion many years ago to the ceremony last weekend. The structure, first as a dream and later as rough sketches and still later as formal plans, has been the centre of debate, controversy and acrimony. But the building was also the centre of a determined effort by a stalwart and resolute group of individuals who had a vision.

That vision is now a reality and we are sure even those who may have expressed negative feelings at one time or another in the building's history, were pleased to see the structure finally opened.

The stock of Minden's attractions has just increased threefold. We have a new, spacious library, a gallery for the community's art collection and travelling exhibits and a cheery public meeting room. For that, we should all be thankful and proud.

More action needed on insulation

- by John Eakins, MPP -

A number of my constituents in Victoria - Haliburton have called me regarding the installation of urea formaldehyde foam insulation.

I am very much aware of Ottawa's responsibility in this matter, for it was the federal government that certified the material, encouraged its use through the CHIP program, and following its installation in some 30,000 homes in Ontario, placed a permanent ban on its use last April 23. It is certainly my view that the federal government must compensate these people and soon. It would be impossible for these people to afford the changes which must be made. I feel confident that Ottawa will respond.

On the other hand, our own Minister of Health, Mr. Timbrell, must do more than he has with respect to the measurement of formaldehyde has and the evaluation of health risks. I agree, as my Leader has stated, that three specific actions should be pursued at once.

First, the Ontario government must increase greatly its efforts in measuring gas levels of all UFFI homes in Ontario. Merely responding to requests is not enough. The current rate of testing is 200 homes per week. At this rate it will take 10 weeks to service the 2,000 requests already in, and 2 1/2 years to test all the affected homes in Ontario. This rate of testing is not acceptable, given the potential health effects resulting from constant exposure to the gas.

Secondly, after the testing has been completed and as quickly as possible, there should be periodic testing to determine whether any problems develop in homes which might initially appear problem-free.

Thirdly, the measurement of gas levels is just one aspect to be examined. A health survey is also required to document health effects with these gas measurements. The Ontario Ministry should conduct this survey from a random sample of UFFI homes and share this information with the Federal Government.

Both levels of Government have a responsibility and both levels must act, and with greater haste. In fairness, I do acknowledge their work to date.

Many thanks for attending our annual meeting and the report you wrote in last week's Times. We appreciate your support.

"We are extremely pleased with the response which we have had from the senior report and request for volunteer support which was mailed to every householder in Haliburton County by HCHSS. So far over 45 have filled their forms in and we have used the volunteers already. One was a request for a drive from Tory Hill to the doctor in Haliburton; one came from a man who wishes a friendly visitor; and another from a man who needed a leaky roof repaired. We were happy that we had volunteers ready to assist - and they did assist!

I would like to thank all those who have offered to be a volunteer. We are very pleased to have had response from our high school students.

It's not too late to send the Little need to be concerned about fall flooding - says reader

Editor:

I would like to draw your attention to the following points which are vital to a reasonable assessment of this problem of the flood plain in Minden.

1: The Gull River that flows through Minden is fed by a watershed to the north and east that is characterized by many large and medium sized lakes almost all of which are controlled by dams. Their combined capacity is more than ample for flood control purposes.

2: These reservoirs are used to store water for the Trent Canal system and to even out the flow through several small electric generating stations. They are filled below capacity most of the year. In a typical year the dams are closed in March to collect almost the entire spring runoff as well as the spring rains. They are filled to capacity for a period of four to eight weeks in May, June and July, and then are drawn down to a low level over the summer and fall, and remain low until the beginning of March.

3: Both the Timmins flood and Hurricane Hazel were fall floods caused by the disruption of weather during the hurricane season. This type of storm should create little trouble for Minden because of the vacant storage capacity in the lakes.

The Timmins storm was 7.6" of rain. Storms in excess of 4.5" in 24 hours occur once in ten years according to government data in the Minden area.

4: The only real damage to Minden is in the spring when the lakes are full and an exceptional rain storm would have to run down the river. This could be averted of course by keeping the lakes a foot or so lower.

5: The operation of the system is under federal jurisdiction. Those in control try to get the reservoirs full without causing floods, and sometimes they get more water than they want, and once, about four years ago, they did not get enough.

6: Mr. Evershad stated that he did not know whether operation of the dams had changed. In fact, they have changed enormously. Many of the dams have been re-built or improved.

More dams are accessible by road, and trails, and can be reached by plane or helicopter if an emergency arises.

Formerly dams in remote areas could be reached only by an arduous journey in a canoe or by snowshoes. In most of April and early May they could not be reached at all due to ice conditions. As a result only the dams close to roads were operated efficiently. Dams that were hard to reach were often full year round and had no flood relief capacity.

Log jams in the last century were also a factor.

Operation today is aided by weather observations from space satellites, computer analysis, improved knowledge of hydraulics, and several generations of experience in operating the system.

7: To summarize, the conditions for flooding are quite different for spring and fall conditions. With proper management there is no reason to fear an autumn flood. The danger is in the spring, and is less dependent on the vagaries of nature than on the policy of the federal D.O.T. It is a question of how they weigh the value of downstream benefits against the safety of lives and property in the headlands, and how much storage capacity they reserve in the reservoirs to allow for a severe spring storm.

Certainly it would be utterly unreasonable to make provisions for a hurricane in spring.

P. Eng.,
Minden.

OF ANSON, HINDON AND MINDEN

This is to inform you that I have resigned from the Haliburton County Board of Education as a Trustee representing these Townships.

Having assumed responsibilities which have a direct bearing on my employment, I find I no longer have sufficient time to devote to the position of School Trustee in order to carry out those duties properly.

It has been a pleasure to have served you during the past nine years, and my own education has benefited from the experience, as well. I thank you for the support you have given me.

I am especially grateful to my confreres on the Board throughout the years for their support, and the honours they have bestowed on me by having elected me to serve as their Chairman on two occasions.

We have one of the best educational systems in this Province. That has only been achieved through the dedication and conscientious efforts of the Director of Education, the staff at the Board Office, the Principals, the Teachers, and other staff members in our Schools working with the Board to make it so. I thank each one of you - may you always continue to maintain your high standards.

Yours sincerely,

H. Lloyd Johnson.

Sorry for the delay in writing this letter, but one requires time to ponder this flooding problem that we in Minden have found ourselves floating in.

Taking the bureaucratic position, there is no, no or yes decision - only a maybe or perhaps, we think it might.

Based on this, we strongly recommend and are lobbying the council of our community to enact a bylaw with the following provisions.

1. It should be mandatory that every house / business / dwelling be required to have, hanging from the front door, a life buoy (minimum weight requirements of 2816 lb. floatation (1280 kilos). To help kill two birds with one stone, as it were, all life rings are to have encribed the house number on which it hangs. (Council should investigate assistance from Bell Canada on this one).

2. New residents of the township must be certified as Royal Canadian Life Saving Bronze Medallion card carriers.

3. Every resident of the hazard zone should be issued mask, fin, snorkel and flippers and be required to wear this equipment at all times in case of flash flooding. Tourists will be issued water wings.

4. Sir Sandford Fleming College be encouraged to introduce courses on white water canoeing and kayaking. The art of birch bark canoe construction could be an option.

5. Warning sirens, strategically located, should be sounded in case of hurricane proportion weather. Instruction will be issued to all residents that once the alarm has sounded, they should gather at Fort Minden (the new library-cultural centre) and we will float down the river together.

A museum for "The Chief"

Editor:

The Honourable John Roberts, federal Minister of the Environment, has announced that the Honourable Paul Cosgrove, federal Minister of Public Works, will accept the Rockcliffe Park (Ottawa) residence of the late Right Honourable John G. Diefenbaker on behalf of the National Capital Commission.

In so doing it is clearly understood that the National Capital Commission will enter into an agreement with the John G. Diefenbaker Memorial Foundation, Inc. which will permit the Foundation to undertake to operate the Rockcliffe Park house as a museum and to assume full responsibility for the upkeep and maintenance of the house and grounds. The Diefenbaker Foundation has agreed to the terms and will accept full responsibility for the conditions laid down by the federal authority.

Before the museum can be opened, however, more than $70,000 in renovations to the property will be required. In addition maintenance and operating costs must be considered to operate the museum in perpetuity.

Regardless of political affiliation, most Canadians realized that John Diefenbaker was a great Canadian. The museum will depict Mr. Diefenbaker's life and times, representing, as Mr. Diefenbaker's family did, a pioneering family from western Canada. The museum will be open free of charge to all Canadians and travellers from every part of the world who visit Ottawa.

It is our responsibility to ensure that Mr. Diefenbaker's dedication and his contribution to Canada will not be forgotten. All contributions to the Diefenbaker Foundation are tax-deductible and receipts will be issued for all donations received. Please send your contribution to: The John G. Diefenbaker Memorial Foundation, Inc., P.O. Box 9324, Alta Vista Terminal, Ottawa, Ontario. K1G 3V1.

Editor:

A final meeting between American groups who were represented by elected members of the U.S. Federal government and a variegated body of press, councillors and interested environmentalists took place, the 23rd of September, at Bracebridge.

The American position was stated frankly and honestly. In essence, they offered us little or no hope for any real change in the present administration's anti-environmental stance. They agreed that there should be more consultation and further scientific research but they made no promises. They suggested that only very firm and overwhelming pressure from American environmentalists would sway Mr. Reagan to reverse his avowed intention of gutting the Clean Air Act.

This places the Ministry of Environment in a very difficult position. With abatement in the U.S. almost a dead issue and a fast disappearing time frame, the limestoning option becomes paramount. The danger is obvious. When we are forced into this option, will the American Government then offer to pay for the program in place of a costly abatement program. On the other hand, if we don't shortly start a large scale amelioration program and allow our lakes and silviculture to deteriorate beyond recovery, a later abatement program will be almost unnecessary. The Americans are quite aware of our dilemma and offer no help.

This writer, and most of those he reasoned with at the meeting, reluctantly agree that we have no choice at this point in time. We must start lake recovery programs and have them in full swing within the next ten years. We believe that the scientific members of the M.O.E. agree with this position. At the moment no further meetings have been planned with our American friends.

H.M. Collins,
Gooderham, Ontario.

First meeting - whets the appetite

Last Wednesday evening Gary Kenney attended the regular meeting of the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council. He offers the following observations of the night's proceedings.

Midway through that first four hour session my resolution expanded to suggest that I should attend all of the upcoming Council meetings for the obvious benefits to my attempts at adroit asides of local import between periods of Saturday evening Maple Leaf disasters.

"In Camera" does not refer to the film in your Kodak but is legalese lingo for "secret". When I arrived at the time (7:30 p.m.) publicized as Council-ignition, the chamber doors were closed, the press and audience were dismissed to the waiting room. Council was 'in camera'.

In secret hush-mumbles with someone from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications. Why? I dunno. Apparently the Ontario Municipal Act allows them (my council) such closed door huddlings to keep warm, or secure (from what?), to discuss whatever aspects of fishing trips, expense accounts, battered egos, OHIP benefits et al that might be covered by the Act's loosely worded provision for same.

Upon finally opening the doors of the chamber to the public (thirty minutes and more had passed), the Reeve apologized a bit too smugly for the conflagration we weren't allowed to hear.

After dutifully taking our places on the church-like-pews, the following was observed.

First, a council member was missing. No one seemed to know when he would return. No note just gone.

Evidence mounted when the Reeve never really listened to a certain matter of discussion but simply waited for a lull (he didn't wait long) and suggested it be referred to a local legal firm for their opinion. Unnecessary legal fees were nicely thwarted by Councilman McKnight's clearer focus of events and a counter-suggestion to pursue other avenues.

An excess of building materials from the new library was almost sold (without tenders) by word of mouth, and a training program surfaced to reveal a council job hiring policy that discriminates against applicants by the simple fact that there are no applicants allowed.

Series upon series of small errors in judgement that border equally on the nit-pickable frailties of us all and the crucial risk of accumulated neglect for good form, principles, and consistency that can lead to an acute lack of responsible government.

As the evening ground on its way one factor slowly emerged from the shroud-like fog which enveloped the proceedings. In the seemingly dull and business-like cadence of the Town Clerk, acting as metronome for the night's work, a greater message took hold of me. Behind the "where-withals", "parties of the first part", spontaneous draughting of resolutions and polite improvements of council members' thoughts, the message was clear - the clerk was running the show.

The first portion of the 1982 marketing program, the winter accommodation guide, is now in the hands of the printer and should be ready for distribution within a few weeks. We are now concentrating on phase two which is the copy and advertising material for the directory. This is scheduled to go to the printer at the end of next month. Our sales representative, Walter Thomas, is endeavouring to personally contact all businesses relative to this publication before that time.

We are also attempting to make this issue even more valuable and informative than in the past and in this regard seek your assistance. The public is encouraged at this time to make suggestions on information that should be included in the directory.

Trail funding suspended

A major blow to our local snowmobile association arrived last week in the form of an announcement by the Ministry of Natural Resources, that no funding what so ever would be available this year for trail grooming. Even the Ministry's own trail grooming efforts will be cut back to some extent as their budget has been cut back for this purpose.

It is too early for the associations to have had time to consider any other alternatives and it may well be too late for them to properly organize another way to approach the problem. It is certainly questionable whether those making this decision have considered the economic impact of what they are doing (or not doing).

Snowmobilers have long questioned the fairness in what they get in return for the licence fees they pay. Now they know exactly what they will get — nothing.

Governments must cut their spending, and we support moves in this direction — this, however, may well cost us more in licence fees, visitor spending, sales of machines and equipment, and last, but certainly not least, human lives, as more and more snowmobiles take to the roads due to a lack of trails.

She alone had the background facts to this petition, that correspondence, a Council member's request for statistics, the Reeve's abrupt haste to catch up on discussions between day dreamings. And lucky we all are for it.

An innocuous, clear spoken, efficient lady with the political acumen (as with Council member McKnight too) to allow the Reeve to absorb her suggestions and directives and regurgitate them minutes later as his own original musings.

She, who caused the only noticeably positive action of the evening by the Deputy Reeve on a complaint that the open side-door was freezing her feet. As the DR leapt to his feet and shut out the cold, she cautioned that if it were not for the cool air they would not have to shut out the noises emanating from the nearby pub. Gawd, what range of sensitivity the lady must have to include the Rockcliffe's attempts at musical interludes with the possibility someone present in the chambers might actually be enjoying them.

The years must parade dozens of council members past clerks such as her, and little do we realize their worth. Relying as we do on the obvious, the loud, the tongue twisting babble of mouth-omania that in quiet hours of fluorescent nine to five, she, our clerk, our real politician, must render into meaningful and precise administration.

I'm bitten, and must return to see her at work again. Work she does despite those she must train twice a month in the chambers.

Gary Kenney,

Redmen defeat Brock 27 - 15

The Haliburton Highlands High School Redmen have notched their second win of the football season by defeating Brock High. The game was played Thursday at the high school in Haliburton. Final score in the contest was 27-15.

The visitors provided a strong test of the Redmen's ability but the local team was still able to grab an early lead and hold onto it as Brock put on the pressure in the final half.

Once again quarterback Tim Davies and receiver Mike Hatkoski accounted for most of the Redmen points. The two connected in the opening quarter on a pass play, converted by Davies. In the second quarter, on the team's quick pitch pass, Davies threw for 30 yards to Hatkoski who ran for 20 yards for the second TD. Before the half ended Davies kicked a field goal for the Redmen and completed another pass to Hatkoski with a 40 yard run.

Brock got on the scoresheet for the first time in the third quarter with a converted touchdown.

Tim Davies kicked another field goal in the last quarter. Brock scored another touchdown on a run play and gained a two point conversion.

The visitors successfully completed a short kick-off in which they recovered the ball.

However, the Redmen were able to hold them without further points on either side.

The next game for the local team is Friday afternoon in Lindsay when they face Lindsay Collegiate Institute. Game time is 2 p.m.

Two members of the Brock Bulldogs football team juggle the ball as Haliburton Highlands Redmen close in for the tackle. On the defensive are, Rick Choy (47), Wayne Beaver (39) and Terry Crowe, left.

Men's hockey league meeting

A special meeting to lay plans for the Minden Men's Recreational Hockey League will be held next Monday.

The meeting is being called to discuss the league's activities for the coming year. All players, team sponsors and coaches are invited to attend.

The meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. at the Minden Arena, October 5.

Bowlers return executive

The second annual meeting of the Minden Lawn Bowling and Senior Citizens' Club was held at the club on September 18 with a large number of the members present.

The 1981 executive was returned to office for the coming season. Mrs. Alberta Maitland was elected to the board of directors and Mrs. Simone Palmer will be the new social convenor.

The lawn bowling club has signed a 3-year lease with the Minden Agricultural Society to occupy the former curling club building during the lawn bowling season with the exception of the three week period required by the Society at fair time.

Plans are underway by the Lawn Bowling Club to give the premises a comfortable club atmosphere.

The 1981 season was a most successful one with play-offs being held on September 28, 29 and 30. The finals will be held at 5:00 p.m. on Friday, October 2 and followed by a pot luck supper and presentation of prizes.

Festival of fun draws 86 participants

The Haliburton Highlands Golf Club third annual Fall Festival of Fun was held during the weekend with 43 couples taking part.

The weekend took opened Friday evening with a wine and cheese party followed by 18 holes of golf Saturday. Ed Muscat of Etobicoke won the low gross championship with a score of 76. The low net winner was Roger Wolcott of Welland with a handicap score of 70. A banquet followed the round of golf.

Sunday the ladies joined their husbands on the course for an alternate shot fun tournament. Brunch rounded out the weekend.

The tournament has become a regular feature at the Haliburton Highlands represent the ecological heritage of northeastern Ontario in perpetuity. To the thousands of canoeists who probe the lakes of Temagami every year, the idea is appealing. But to the lumber industries in the local area, and to many of the residents who are employed by them, the wilderness idea is little short of appalling.

Golf Club and attracts participants from Toronto, Aurora, Barrie and other communities in southern Ontario.

At the moment, the loggers have to have the upper hand. Even though the Lady Evelyn River itself is classed as a Wild River Park, it is crossed in two places by logging roads, and clearcuts ring the narrow ribbon of parkland in many areas. The days of selective removal of the large pines with horses and river drives are long gone. Now timber skidders crisscross the clearcuts, and the roar of logging trucks echoes through many a quiet campsite.

MNR is attempting to resolve the future of the area through a cost-benefit study, which would hopefully take into account the fact that only one-thirtieth of the wood supply for the neighbouring Elk Lake mill is predicted to come from the park. Groups such as the Alliance for the Lady Evelyn Wilderness continue to push for protection of the park area and to educate local residents and visitors on its value.

Lady Evelyn has many attractions as a potential park - few conflicts with cottages or lodges, little potential for mines or hydro power generation, and rolling terrain well suited for wilderness recreation. But for many years it will have to be "wilderness with a small W", until the scars of modern logging can be healed. In spite of this drawback, Lady Evelyn represents the best potential for new parkland in this corner of the province.

We have been asked to write the news for Hyland Crest. After giving it serious thought I said I'll do my best.

Rev. Brubaker took the service in the chapel Sunday night. He says the world is in such a mess because we're not living right. Then Monday morning it was fun and fitness. I you don't think we're having fun come and be a witness.

Tuesday morning Lieutenant and Mrs. Bruell from the Salvation Army in Haliburton put on a lovely service in the chapel. We welcome them and hope their stay in Haliburton is a happy one. They also, as you know, have a lovely little son.

Tuesday afternoon after a delicious meal we all boarded the Hyland bus with Doris at the wheel. She sure knows how to handle that big, lovely bus. We had a slack tire at the rear, she didn't even cuss.

Tuesday night was music night here at Hyland Crest. Folk came in to play and sing and be our welcome guests. Some sing bass, some sing alto or sweet soprano. But Mrs. Rose knows how to play that grand old piano.

Wednesday is games night. We look forward to this time. You can play games for one hour and never pay a dime.

The ladies are real busy getting ready for their bazaar. They have some lovely birdhouses made by Teddy Carr.

Monday night was movie night. We had a lot of fun watching two good movies while they took their run. Thursday afternoon the Kinmount Ladies of Branch 441 Canadian Legion brought over a lovely lunch and were they ever a jolly bunch.

One of the ladies eighty years young played the mouth organ and the other two danced in step with the music. They also brought a lovely birthday cake for those who had birthdays in September. This was one afternoon we all should remember.

Sorry Fenelon gals that we were not here to take a trip around the world with you. But the ones that were here to see it all say it was just grand. They all want to thank you for putting on this lovely time for them. We have been fortunate to have such good entertainment this week.

Cheerio until next time.

Employment Opportunities

Mr. Foggs is now hiring staff for the Fall and Winter season. Previous experience is not necessary as we provide complete training for all our new employees. An interest in people combined with a pleasant personality are the qualities we are looking for.

Opportunities are available in kitchen and server positions, both full and part-time. Come and join us in the fun and challenges of the hospitality industry.

For further information or application contact Julie Chadwick at 489-2200

$4000 damage

Close to $4000 damage was the result of a two car accident Friday morning on Dorset's Main Street. Georgina Baum was travelling south when she was travelling south when she attempted to overtake another car driven by Nancy Tebby of Huntsville. Tebby was starting to make a left turn and the two cars collided.

Damage to the Baum vehicle was estimated at $800, while the Tebby car sustained $3000 damage.

The mishap was investigated by Constable Jim Solway.

"IF YOU LIKE CHICKEN - YOU'LL LOVE DIXIE LEE!"

Three o'clock on Saturday, September 26 marked the official opening of our new Library - Cultural Centre. John Eakins, M.P.P., Dr. Agnes Jamieson and Mrs. Ruth Gorrie shared the honour of the ribbon cutting ceremony. Two members of Haliburton Legion Pipe Band played outside to welcome guests who received an excellent souvenir programme and signed the guest book on entering.

The ceremony was held in the Common Room and greetings announced from various dignitaries. Many beautiful floral arrangements from well-wishers added to the decor.

Mrs. Ruth Gorrie was an interesting and able M.C. It was unfortunate that owing to inclement weather, the planting of the 2 blue spruce trees from the Horticultural Society, had to be postponed.

Reeve Lloyd Walker invited everyone to tour the facility, taking in the Library and the Agnes Jamieson Art Gallery which houses most of the Andre Lapine collection. Refreshments were available to all with Mrs. John Eakins, Brenda Couch and Edna Morgan pouring.

Welcome back to Em and Frank Poole, former residents, who are moving to Minden to the apartment over Dr. Rhodes' office. They will be arriving this Thursday and look forward to seeing all their old friends.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late John Cornish, Joseph Taylor (Haliburton), Richard Wood, Charlie Cross, and Vincent McGuire, the last two from Kinmount.

OUR TOWN

My friends have asked for another poem, but I don't have much to say.

When you live in the same small town all your life, things begin to look a bit gray. I can't take trips to foreign lands, so no distant towns do I see,

And with this trend towards no visiting, not many come to see me.

But I had a caller the other day, she comes from far away. She thinks our scenery is really grand, and would like to come here to stay. So let us take a good look around, and appreciate what we see.

Then maybe we will all decide our town is a grand place to be.

F. Robinson, Sept. 22, 1981

There was the Florence Oster Golf (Memorial) Tournament on Sat. Sept. 26 with 10 of her friends playing three holes before the down-pour. Names of the players were placed in a hat and Mrs. Mary Oster, 98 years young, drew a winner, Grace Coburn. This tournament will go yearly in June after this. Everyone enjoyed the bountiful supper and special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oster, son Lee and cat Spicey and Mrs. Mary Fletcher.

All her friends wish Ada Stevens well, as she is presently at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, room 346.

The Minden Library Committee were especially pleased to see Barrie Robinson, Regional Director from Kingston, Marilyn Stouffer Regional Representative and Stan McDougall, Haliburton County Librarian present for the Official Opening on Saturday afternoon.

Congratulations to the newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Randy Barras (nee Judy Trumbull) who were married on Saturday. And belated good wishes to Mary Little and Cline Goldsmith who are married.

At the Mini Card Party at St. Paul's Parish Hall last Thursday afternoon winners were for cribbage Gladys Wruth and Ethel Leigh, for euchre lone hands Hilda Harrison and May Wright and Evelyn Robertson.

Visiting with Mabel and Eldon Deacon have been Pat and Rick Lancaster and Jamie and Robbie all from Calgary.

New arrival is Gregory John on September 8, son of Linda and Bill Smith and grandson of Doris and Jim Grant and Mrs. John Smith of Whitevale.

Visiting with Mrs. N. Leigh were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Lamont of Tilbury and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lamont of Ottawa.

Another item is that two paintings have been donated to Minden Public Library - the first of Minden Public School painted by Walter Noice and the second is Kent Homestead painted by Dr. A. Jamieson and the clock was donated by Len Lonsberry. We are sure the people using this facility appreciated these.

Alice Morrison is home again after several weeks visiting with her sons Craig and Lynn in Toronto and Miles in Hamilton and she really thought the Botanical Gardens there were a treat to see.

Ev and Loyne Cox spent the weekend at their home and visited with relatives and friends.

Next Monday night will be an A.C.W. Card Party at St. Paul's Parish Hall at 8 with bridge, euchre and cribbage and lunch and prizes. Tuesday afternoon is the luncheon at the Wagon Wheel, for further details phone 286-2566 or 286-1139. Also a Sale of Baking and Crafts at the Furniture Shop October 10 at 10 a.m., this also by some A.C.W. ladies.

We note that colour is bursting out all around and next weekend will probably be the best one, if we don't have too much wind and rain, the leaves may last until the Holiday. Cheerio until next time.

Lines from Lutterworth

by Jean Lacey

Hi! Well it's that time of year again, the leaves are starting to give us their fall splendour. The colour is starting out to be very beautiful even with all this rain.

There was a shower for Brenda Aggett last Tuesday at Ruth Kellett's, with friends and neighbours in attendance.

Jim and Joanne Oatman with Crystal and Joshua were up visiting over the weekend.

Michellen Cruickshank and Claire Kelling were up visiting in the area for a few days.

After an active morning of playing outdoors, a little boy came in and asked his mother, "Who am I?"

"Tarzan?" she guessed. "That lady down the street was right!" exclaimed the lad. "She said I was so dirty even my own mother wouldn't know me!"

Hint of the Week

Fireplaces - There is less need to scrub the fireplace if you throw salt on the logs occasionally. This will reduce the soot by two-thirds. Vinegar will clean brick tiling around the fireplace. Dip a vegetable brush in white vinegar and scrub quickly. Immediately sponge to absorb the moisture. Rub smoked areas with an artgum eraser. This works especially well on porous, rock front fireplaces.

Pete and Fran Learne were up holidaying at their cottage over the weekend.

The Minden and District

Horticultural Meeting this Tuesday, October the 6th will be held in the new Minden Library.

There was a good turn out at the wedding dance of Judy and Randy Barras Saturday night. Congratulations to the both of them.

Visit your library and read some of the new books that are there. There was a book exchange this week so there will be quite a few different books in your local library, for your enjoyment.

Lil Porter is home from her visit to Cranford, New Jersey.

Inflation is when after you get the money to buy something, it isn't enough.

Water in the Sink
by Alike Barnstone
Out of the pipe come the bugs and down they speed into a tunnel and drop and crawl slowly on a far journey to a wet jamboree, a bug meeting under the world where they clunk into a fiery nickel core, still falling, and dampen the grounds of China.

What do you call a person who has crossed the ocean twice without taking a bath?
A dirty double crosser

What kind of coat has no buttons and is always wet?
A coat of paint

What do you get when you cross peanut butter with an elephant?
Either peanut butter that never forgets or an elephant that sticks to the roof of your mouth

What do you do if you wake up in the middle of the night and hear a mouse squeaking?
Get up and oil it

What goes from Boston to New York without moving?
A railroad track

Bye for now. Take it easy. God bless till next time.

Power interruptions from storms are not unusual in autumn. It's good to know that your Kero-Sun™ Portable Heater is close at hand. The Moonlighter™ is perfect for those times when you need a source of heat and light... plus a cooking surface! Because they burn kerosene and don't depend on electricity, these handy units can keep you warm and comfortable during an unexpected emergency such as a power outage. There are 7 different models to suit your individual needs, from the super powerful Omni 105™ to the super compact Omni 15™. 99.9% fuel efficiency means odorless, smokeless operation. Battery-powered ignition system and automatic shut-off device. See a demonstration today.

IN MEMORIAM

MISCIO - In loving memory of a dear father, Mike, who passed away September 25, 1972.

The month of September comes with regret, It brings back a day we will never forget, No verse can say or flowers repay How much we lost on that sad day.

Sadly missed and always remembered, Daughter Vera.

MISCIO - In loving memory of my dear husband, Mike, who passed away September 25, 1972.

Always a smile, instead of a frown, Always a hand, when you were down. Always true, thoughtful and kind, Wonderful memories he left behind.

Ever missed by wife Annie.

MISCIO - In loving memory of a dear grandfather, Mike, who passed away September 25, 1972.

Nine years ago I had to part, With a Papa I loved with all my heart. You left a place no one can fill, I miss you Papa and always will.

Sadly missed and always remembered by granddaughter Ann and family, John, Johnny and Brandi Hewson.

IN MEMORIAM

MISCIO - In loving memory of a dear father, and grandfather, Mike, who passed away September 25, 1972.

Your end was very sudden, It made us weep and cry. But the saddest part of all Dad, We never said goodbye.

Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by son Alvin, Clara and Tommy

NOTICE

Under the photograph of Mr. and Mrs. Burkitt in last week's edition of the newspaper, it stated the couple would hold an open house at their Ingoldsby home, October 5. The open house will be held this Saturday, October 3. We apologize for this error.
